

A Place Partnership for Renfrewshire – open discussion – 23 June 2017

Place Partnership is a Creative Scotland strategic programme designed to encourage and support local partners to work together with their creative community.

Renfrewshire has been invited by Creative Scotland to participate in this programme. This will give us an opportunity over the next few years to strengthen our collaborations and potential to network, with the ultimate aim of being able to work together to bring in more resources to strengthen cultural and creative sectors in Renfrewshire.

We're holding an open discussion to identify and shape the themes of this programme, which will then be used to devise our activities over the next 3 years. Come along to meet people, shape a vision and explore some exciting possibilities of new ways of working together.
