

Free space for social enterprises in Buchanan Galleries

Kibble have just opened up Good within Buchanan Galleries. Good is an interactive, welcoming and fun environment where anyone can find out more about local charities and social enterprises. As you can see from the link, Good is a bright open space that's available for social enterprises and third sector organisations in Glasgow and West of Scotland (ie you!) to utilise, for free, for any number of things including events, training, meetings, demonstrations. In fact, the list could be endless. The end goal is to bring social enterprises and third sector organisations into the public space with an opportunity for others to learn about the great work you do, and Good as a unit can do exactly that.

Are you planning on hosting events, got a new service to deliver and looking for a place, hosting training sessions, performances and can't find somewhere that fits yet? Why not take a look at Good!

It's open every day from 10am-5pm, why not pop into to see it and find out a bit more?

If you're interested in connecting with Good in the meantime, you can contact good.scot.info@kibble.org
