

Plan-It Jam

Let's start with a simple question... what does nature mean to you?

This word can mean different things to each of us, whether it's the rustle of autumn leaves, the wildlife you see on TV, or something else entirely. Whatever nature means to you we want to hear your perspective!

What is it?

We want to give you the opportunity to have your voice heard about our nature's future and help make a difference to it.

We're looking for a mixed, lively group of young people aged 16-25 from across Scotland with a range of interests from the arts and music, to science and technology, and a variety of perspectives as well as outdoor enthusiasts and keen explorers. No experience required!

We'll work together to find creative, innovative and interesting ways for nature organisations and young people to interact with each other and build long lasting relationships. So whatever nature means to you, we'd love to hear from you.

What's in it for you?

- This project will give you the chance to challenge yourself, be innovative and make your CV stand out from the crowd!
- Give you the opportunity to have your say on how nature conservation organisations work with young people in Scotland in the future.
- Increase your confidence - be empowered and challenge the people at the top!
- Meet other people from across Scotland and work in a team.
- Have a role in shaping future thinking on how we best care for Scotland's nature

Join us to share your thoughts, ideas and solutions and take part in this unique opportunity
