

Renfrewshire Local Governance

Review Update

The Local Governance Review in Renfrewshire would like to give you an update on the outcome and next steps. Your views are very much appreciated and are helping to shape the new arrangements.

We have now looked at all the responses to the consultation that took place between January and April 2018 and produced a report to summarise what people said to us. This report (please see link: <http://bit.do/egzCB>) was presented to Renfrewshire Council on 3 May 2018 and the recommendations agreed. The report will also be included for invitation with the papers for the next round of Local Area Committees in May and June 2018.

The next step will be to amend the proposals in the consultation paper and submit a final set of proposals for approval by Renfrewshire Council on 28 June. After this, we will look to implement the changes later this year. This will still require a lot of discussion with communities in order to finalise the details and we look forward to working together on this.

Thank you again for your interest in the Review and for your views, which are helping to shape the new arrangements. Please let us know if you have any other views or comments to make on the review.
