

It's not too late!

Early Action System Change Fund

In March 2018, Big Lottery Scotland awarded £1m to a Renfrewshire collaboration wanting to improve emotional health and wellbeing, and to address issues around coercive relationships during adolescence.

The collaborative bid between Dartington Service Design Lab, Renfrewshire Council, and third sector partners offers local groups some great opportunities to be involved in this exciting and influential 3 year project.

The money has come from the Early Action System Change Fund, which aims to support work which prevents problems from occurring rather than just dealing with the consequences. More info is available here.

A core element the Early Action System Change initiative in Renfrewshire, is working with children, young people, families and communities, to design a system of services that supports prevention and early intervention, to improve emotional well-being and healthy adolescent relationships.

The collaborative partners will be holding an information session on Monday, August 20th at 10am at Engage Renfrewshire, Paisley PA3 1NS.

The session will outline the aims of the initiative, how third sector groups can get involved in the design and development phase, and how to apply for funding opportunities to get involved in this initial stage of the work. Please register on Eventbrite here.

Third sector organisations invited to attend are those with knowledge and experience of working with children, young people and families to improve emotional well-being and promote healthy adolescent relationships.

If that's you, or you just want to know more, please register to attend on August 20th.

For further information please contact info@engagerenfrewshire.com or 0141 887 8808.